

THE CRISIS IN EGYPT.

THE SITUATION GROWING GRAVER.
—TRYING TO SPUR ON THE GOVERNMENT—THE Khedive Anxious.
A meeting is to be held in London on Thursday to urge the British Government to adopt a more vigorous policy in regard to Egypt. Prominence is given in the London newspapers to war preparations. Arabi Pasha reiterates his determination to resist the landing of troops by a foreign enemy. A session of the conference in Constantinople was held yesterday. Considerable anxiety is felt by the Khedive on account of the prostration of business in Egypt and the continued unsettled state of the country.

ENGLAND GROWING RESTIVE.
A DEMAND FOR A MORE ENERGETIC EGYPTIAN
POLICY—A TALK WITH ARABI PASHA.
(BY CABLE TO THE TRIBUNE.)

LONDON, June 25.—Arrangements are making for a great meeting in London on Thursday to press upon the Government the urgent necessity of taking effectual measures for the protection of British life and property in Egypt. The Conservative leaders are expected to attend and to speak. The Daily Telegraph has given currency to a report that the Government are preparing an expeditionary force of 8,000 men for immediate employment in Egypt. There is only a substratum of truth in this statement. No immediate action is contemplated, but in view of possibilities the commanders in Malta and Aden have received telegraphic instructions to hold themselves in readiness to detach a portion of the garrisons for special service. Should it become necessary to land any troops in Alexandria they will be placed, it is believed, under the command of General Sir Evelyn Wood. Arrangements are in progress to reinforce the garrisons at Malta and Aden from England.

The latest news from Egypt is that the National party are much elated at the refusal of Turkey to take part in the Conference. The Egyptian question is now narrowed down to this: Either Arabi or the Khedive must quit the country; and as Arabi shows no patriotic desire to efface himself for the good of his country, his view being that it can only be saved by his maintaining his position, and as the Khedive expresses a determination to remain at his post as a matter of duty, the conviction is prevalent that hostilities are inevitable sooner or later. In reply to a further question from The Standard correspondent Arabi Pasha replied to-day that in the event of no disembarkation of European troops he would, with the officers of the army, in accordance with accepted responsibilities, maintain order; but he added: "We would do so only so long as no foreign enemy actually landed troops on our shores. If that were done it would be my duty to fight till the last drop of my blood was shed. In that event the European residents must necessarily be left to look after themselves, my duty as a humane minister and soldier being then discharged."

It is mentioned in reference to the demands for active intervention that on the night of the outbreak, the 11th, the English Admiral attempted to send ashore boats to bring off the fugitives, but the moment the design was made known an order was given to sound the assembly for the Egyptian soldiers; and the Governor representing to the Admiral that pending the result a general massacre of Europeans would take place, the boats were recalled. It is believed now that, in case of a landing being attempted at Alexandria, serious opposition would be offered; but the National party are content to cut the water supply and to withdraw the soldiery to the interior, whereupon they think that the city would become the prey of the horde of Bedouins who are waiting in readiness to sack it.

THE KHEDEVES ANXIETY.
EFFECTS OF THE PROSTRATION OF BUSINESS IN EGYPT—THE CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA, June 25.—The Khedive has written to Ragheb Pasha, President of the Council, recapitulating the recent events in Egypt, which the Khedive describes as deplorable. He points out that, notwithstanding his assurances, foreigners continue to abandon Egypt, that commercial affairs are at a standstill; that specie is being hoarded; that there is a complete absence of credit, and that enormous loss is thus caused to the country. He declares that a strict, searching inquiry must be held; and he commands Ragheb Pasha earnestly to consider the best means of finding out the causes that led to the catastrophe in Alexandria, which he says might have been avoided by timely measures. He urges Ragheb Pasha to discover the names of the promoters of the riot and of their accomplices with a view to their severe punishment. The Khedive says it is absolutely necessary that measures be taken for the reestablishment of friendly relations between the natives and Europeans, for the maintenance of order and for the resumption of business, on which the prosperity of the country depends.

The Sultan has conferred the Order of Medjidie, of the first class, upon Arabi Pasha. He has also presented the Khedive with a souvenir in diamonds, and conferred upon Sultan Pasha a distinction of high rank.

Ragheb Pasha has telegraphed to Count de Lesseps contradicting the report that the Suez Canal is in danger.

BRUXEL, June 25.—It is understood that England is resolved to assume the responsibility of the protection of the Suez Canal, not only in the name of British interests, but in the interests of all civilized commercial nations.

LONDON, June 25.—The Daily Telegraph's dispatch from Alexandria says: "Numbers of Arabs are starving. A crowd went to the house of Arabi Pasha on Saturday and asked for bread. Arabi told them to go away."

The Standard's correspondent at Alexandria considers the present position of the Khedive very dangerous. He thinks the Khedive will be arrested at the first sign of foreign occupation.

The news papers this morning, under the heading, "English War Preparations," give great prominence to orders from the Admiralty for the immediate unloading of the ironclad Hotspur, preparations for immediate embarkations of marines at Chatham, and the getting ready for sea of some ironclads.

The correspondent of The Times at Calcutta mentions a rumor that the authorities contemplate the organization of an expedition to Egypt composed of Indian troops.

The Press Association reports that arrangements have been made for the embarkation of troops at Cyprus and Aden, without delay, to guard the Suez Canal.

day his regret that Turkey took no part in the conference. He said that the deliberations would be attended with the best of results for Turkey and the Powers. The conference was not hostile to Turkey. Constantinople had been chosen as the place for the meeting in order to enable the Sultan to obtain the Porte's views. This communication has produced a good impression on the Porte, and it is expected that Count Kertli will receive a conciliatory reply.

The sovereign rights of the Sultan over Egypt were discussed and confirmed.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

THE HAMILTON PALACE SALE.

LONDON, June 25.—The sale of the second portion of the Hamilton Palace collection began on Saturday, the paintings offered on this occasion being mostly examples of the Italian masters. The best prices were realized by Botticelli's "Assumption of the Virgin," which brought 4,450 guineas. The same artist's "Adoration of the Magi," 1,550 guineas; Giorgione's "Story of Myrrha," 1,350 guineas; and a panel painted in monochrome, with a female figure by Mantegna, 1,700 guineas; all of which were purchased in behalf of the British National Gallery. The day's sale realized a total of £26,804.

SHOT WITH A CHARGE OF SLUGS.

LONDON, June 25.—A party of assassins in disguise fired from a carriage a charge of slugs into the shoulder of Thomas Maganagh, a constabulary pensioner at Kilkenny, near Athboy, County Meath. Maganagh was sitting at the time in the kitchen of the lodge house of a wealthy farmer. He was last reported to be dying.

RIOTING IN CORK.

CORK, June 25.—There was rioting here Saturday night and to-night. Shuttlers were torn from shop windows to replenish bonfires for celebrating St. John's Eve. Savas were exchanged and the police were stoned.

FOREIGN NOTES.

LONDON, June 25, 1882.

Dispatches from St. Petersburg state that the rumor of an intention to impose export duties on grain is denied.

The Holy Synod publishes a decree rewarding thirty-two priests who were instrumental in checking anti-Semitic outbreaks.

James Hill & Sons, Russia merchants, of No. 18 Great Winchester Street, E. C., London, have failed. The firm has connections in St. Petersburg and Krasnodar.

The Official Gazette of Madrid publishes a bill introduced by Senor Canalejo, minister of Finance, to reduce export duties on coal, cotton, leather and other raw materials.

EFFECTS OF STORMS IN THE WEST.

HOUSES BLOWN DOWN AND THE INMATES KILLED.

ST. PAUL, June 25.—A dispatch from Spencer, Iowa, received late last night says: A cyclone passed through this vicinity on Friday night, striking the town. It did considerable damage, demolishing buildings, tearing up sidewalks and blowing down houses, barns and business blocks. In the southern part of Clay County it blew down twenty houses, killed five persons and injured about twenty-five. At Emmetsburg it blew down four houses, took the fronts out of four business blocks, made a total wreck of Shaner's plough works and injured four persons, two of them seriously.

ALGONA, Iowa, June 25.—In Emmetsburg, one man was killed and a house destroyed by the cyclone, and there were carried off and badly hurt. A child was carried several rods and received injuries from the effects of which it will die. In Fenton Township, Kassau County, the house of William Myers was blown down and all the members of the family were hurt. Near Wesley, G. W. Adams and a child were struck.

SIoux CITY, Iowa, June 25.—A cyclone struck Hooper, fifty miles northeast of this city, at 6 o'clock yesterday morning, demolishing the Presbyterian Church, the school-house, a carpenter shop and twenty-five houses and barns in Hooper and its vicinity. The cyclone lasted only fifteen minutes. Henry Gaudy, a farmer, was fatally injured. The center of the storm passed within five miles of the city, and it was sweeping a path about five miles wide for fifteen miles. Eighteen foreigners of the Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis Railroad were wrecked and killed. A woman and a child were carried off and killed. A woman and a child were carried off and killed. A woman and a child were carried off and killed.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 25.—The storm on Friday night last was the worst since the late of the Wisconsin and St. Peter Road. Special dispatches report great damage to crops, the widening of the river, and the destruction of buildings. The river rose twelve feet in five hours at Owatonna. The storm extended several hundred miles from the Lake Superior to the Gulf of Mexico.

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 25.—The chairman of the Prohibition Amendment and Anti-Prohibition Amendment Committees in this State met at the State House yesterday afternoon to discuss the best way to secure the passage of the amendment. The committee decided to hold a public meeting on Friday night to discuss the amendment.

OSHAU, Neb., June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the eastern portion of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 25.—A severe wind and rain storm, accompanied by hail, passed from the west to the east of the State this afternoon, the whole damage being estimated at $50,000.

POLITICS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

THE REPUBLICAN DIVISION.

COMPROMISE THE ONLY SALVATION OF THE PARTY
—OPINIONS OF GOVERNOR HOYT AND M. S. QUAY
—INDEPENDENTS IN CHESTER COUNTY.

(FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.)
HARRISBURG, Penn., June 24.—Since the adjournment of the reconvened convention there has been considerable curiosity as to whether or not Mr. Cameron's State Committee will take any action on the difficulties between the two wings of the party in this State. Although the caucus refused to adopt the resolution in favor of a new convention, the chairman decided that under the modified resolution adopted the committee was empowered to call a new convention if it thought best. There is no telling how the committee stands on the question, as it has never held a meeting. Its members are for the most part unacquainted with each other, and although they were selected as well-known Cameron followers, yet the changing vicissitudes of a month even have already thrown some of them into the ranks of the Independents, and another month may cause a still further change. Thomas V. Cooper, who has assumed the chairmanship of the committee by Cameron's request, will probably not call it together, and thus avoid any further exhibition of the growing weakness of the Stalwarts.

It is very questionable whether the Independents would accept a new convention called under the rules adopted at Harrisburg. One of the candidates on their State ticket says that a new convention called under the rules adopted by the Philadelphia conference would be satisfactory, but not under the changes made at Harrisburg, which allow the Democratic counties to come in, as of old, and control the convention.

Governor Hoyt was asked yesterday what he thought of the situation. He replied: "I think there will be a new convention or a satisfactory compromise arranged in some other way. This must be done to save the party. The pressure within the State and from Republicans all over the country will be so strong for a new convention that it cannot be resisted. The party must be saved."

"It is asserted by those opposing a new convention that the Independents are few in number and are centered wholly in the cities. Is that true?" inquired the correspondent of THE TRIBUNE.

"That is one of the great mistakes they are making," replied the Governor. "I tell you, the great strength of the Independent movement is in the rural districts, among the farmers and mechanics and in the quiet country homes, where it will show itself until after the votes are counted in November. It is very strong in the northern tier, to my knowledge. There is no use of attempting to despise the Independent strength. That would be a fatal error. They should be met on their own ground, with a new convention as demanded."

Before M. S. Quay, Secretary of the Commonwealth, and the most trusted adviser of Governor Cameron, returned to Atlantic City, the day after the convention, THE TRIBUNE correspondent inquired his opinion of the outlook.

"As to the convention," said Mr. Quay, "I am very well satisfied with its work. I cannot tell whether or not there will be a compromise with the Independents. I don't think there will be any between the two organizations, but there may be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were elected by the county committees. If a new convention were called, Cameron would be re-nominated and probably the remainder of the ticket, unless it be a compromise between the Cameron and the Quay wings. The great complaint is as to the manner of electing the delegates. It is a fact not well understood that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Harrisburg Convention were